

Georgette Borrego Dulworth (r), Director - Talent Acquisition & Diversity, Chrysler Group LLC, receives recognition from Robert Bard (l), President and CEO of Latina Style magazine, for the Company's inclusion in the Latina Style 50 Report, which highlights companies that have a dedicated effort to diverse recruitment and promotion initiatives relating to Latinas, including companies that have programs to recruit veterans.

'Latina Style' Latest to Note Diversity Within Chrysler

The editors of Latina Style magazine have selected Chrysler Group for inclusion on the magazine's annual list of the 50 best companies in which to work for Hispanic women in the U.S.

The Latina Style 50 Report, now in its 14th year, highlights companies that have a dedicated effort to diverse recruitment and promotion initiatives, including companies that have programs to recruit veterans and military personnel. Chrysler Group was recognized for its inclusion on the prestigious list at the Latina Style Awards Ceremony on Feb. 5 in Washington, D.C., and will be featured in a special report in Latina Style magazine's August issue.

In 2012, the Detroit Free Press named Chrysler Group as one of the best places to work in the state of Michigan. Chrysler Group has been named one of the "100 Best Companies for Working Mothers" by Working Mother magazine 13 times, and has been recognized six times by the Human Rights Campaign Foundation as one of the country's leading corporations supporting policies and inclusion of LGBT employees. Chrysler Group also has been named to HispanicBusiness magazine's annual Diversity Elite 60 list for implementing strategies to reach more Hispanic customers and to pursue more business with minority- and Hispanic-owned suppliers.

In 2012, the Michigan Hispanic Chamber of Commerce named Chrysler Group Corporation of the Year for its achievements in bringing more minority-owned businesses into its supply chain.

In 2011 and 2012, the editors of DiversityInc magazine named Chrysler Group to the magazine's list of "Top 50 Companies for Diversity." This coveted annual benchmark comprises companies the magazine's editors believe are diversity-management leaders.

Over the years, many Chrysler Group employees have received important professional recognition from various organizations, including Black Engineer of the Year, Women of Color, HENAAC Great Minds in STEM and others.

"[Latina Style's recognition] is another important recognition of the strategic value of Chrysler Group's commitment to diversity and inclusion," said Nancy A. Rae, senior vice president, Human Resources, Chrysler Group LLC. "Chrysler Group is committed to recruiting and fully engaging diverse talent as a source of energy and innovation to fuel our continued success."

Latina Style magazine began the Top 50 Report list as "a quest to explore deeper into the business world and bring forth powerful and useful information on the increasing importance of recruiting professional Latinas."

In 1997, with the assistance of the U.S. Department of Labor, the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, and national Hispanic organizations, the magazine developed a comprehensive survey that is sent annually to Fortune 1000 companies. The Latina Style 50 report, the result of that annual survey process, highlights each selected company's leadership programs, employee benefits and Latina representation in senior positions.

More than 800 companies are evaluated through the process each year in order to identify the top 50.

Auburn Hills Sets Its Library Events

The Auburn Hills Library's Murder by the Book discussion group is meeting at 10:30 a.m. on Saturday, March 16, in the Small Meeting Room.

The book that will be discussed, Detroit Breakdown, was written by D.E. Johnson.

The library's Knitting Club is also meeting on the 16th at noon. The meeting is open to those 7 and older who want to learn how to knit. Volunteers will act as teachers and help novices get started.

For those who already know how to knit, they might want to bring a project they are currently working. There is room for 10 people. To register, visit the site auburn-hills.lib.mi.us.
