As a result he was the recipient of seven blood donations.

The credit union’s Warren branch on Chicago Road hosted the first donations on Sept. 12. The other participating branches opened their doors to blood donors on Sept. 13.

“Our blood donors help make a difference for many types of patients, including children with cancer and those who need ongoing treatment for sickle cell disease,” said Diane E. Ward, CEO for the Southeastern Michigan Blood Services Region of the American Red Cross.

“Blood transfusions are crucial to both groups of individuals and play an important part in helping to extend and save their lives.”

In addition to the blood drive, the Credit Union offered local residents the opportunity to securely destroy their unwanted documents at its branch locations in Warren, Livonia, Farmington Hills and New Hudson on Sept. 13.

The October event will be hosted by Dominic Pangborn, with Fox 2 news anchor Anquetette Jamison serving as emcee.

The evening features a live auction in which a “Downton Abbey” high tea experience will be among the items and services that people can bid on.

Other items include airfare and a one-week stay at a golf resort condo in Spice Bush, S.C.

The Capuchin Soup Kitchen was founded in 1929 and currently serves about 2,000 meals a day.

Tickets are $250 per person, which covers cocktails, dinner and one free grand prize raffle ticket.

The grand prize is $2,500.

when identity theft has increasingly become a problem, Sinno-White said.

According to a 2013 report by Javelin Strategy and Research, fraudsters stole more than $21 billion from victims in 2012 – there was a victim of identity theft every three seconds.

Sinno-White said that Community Choice has a culture of “paying it forward” and supporting the communities in which it operates through charitable programs and volunteerism.

“The Give Big committee meets on a regular basis to help plan for charitable opportunities,” Sinno-White said. “The committee is made up of a variety of Credit Union team members, from different backgrounds and experiences, and provides a structured opportunity for us to focus on ways to enrich our local communities.”

fold-flat rear seats and a quieter interior.

“And thanks to a new family of advanced EcoTec3 engines, the lineup is expected to deliver the segment’s best V8 fuel economy.”

The press release stated that “bold styling and advanced technologies – including new safety and security technologies – support Yukon’s greater capability, while a more comprehensive list of standard features and enhanced infotainment options are designed to broaden the appeal of one of the industry’s most-popular full-size SUV lineups.

“Combined Yukon/Yukon XL and Denali sales were up 24 percent for the eight months of 2013.”

“We’ve engineered the Yukon and Yukon XL from the ground up, building on a strong legacy of capability to take them to the top of the segment with exceptional refinement and purposeful technology,” said Tony DiSalle, vice president of GMC Marketing.

“And when it comes to the tasks people rely on a full-size SUV for, they do it better than ever – and with more style.”

He said Yukon and Yukon XL share design, architectural and
